BILL FOLEY

Chairman, Chief Executive Officer and Governor

Bill Foley knew that bringing an NHL franchise to Las Vegas was not going to be an easy task, but his persistence paid off on June 22, 2016. While that day will go down in history as the first day a major professional team entered the market, it would not have happened without the hard work from Foley and the people he surrounded himself with.

In the years leading up to the Board of Governor's announcement of the NHL's 31st franchise, Foley, the Vegas Golden Knights Chairman and CEO, was busy engaging the fan base and aligning himself with prominent people in the community. In early 2014, he entered an agreement with the Maloof family to pursue an NHL franchise in Las Vegas. Later that year, MGM and AEG broke ground on a new arena on Las Vegas Boulevard. At the end of 2014, the NHL granted Foley permission to gauge fan interest in Las Vegas.

On February 15, 2015, Foley and the Maloofs launched the "Vegas Wants Hockey" season ticket drive with the goal of 10,000 season tickets sold. They received more than 5,000 ticket deposits on the first day and about a month later, they reached their goal. In June, the NHL officially announced they would accept applications for expansion. Less than a month later Foley had submitted his application. He would spend the next 11 months meeting with NHL officials and governors on why Las Vegas was a good fit.

After expansion was announced, Foley went to work putting together his team. He named George McPhee the team's first General Manager on July 13, 2016 and the hockey operations staff started to take form. On October 3, 2016, Kerry Bubolz was named the team's first President and the business side of the team started to develop. Two days later on October 5, 2016, construction began on the team's practice facility in Downtown Summerlin. The official team name, the Vegas Golden Knights, was announced on November 22, 2016, in front of thousands of fans in Toshiba Plaza in front of T-Mobile Arena.

The final expansion payment was made by Foley on March 1 and the team made its first hockey transaction on March 6 by signing Reid Duke to an entry-level contract. On April 13, alongside McPhee, Foley announced Gerard Gallant as the team's first head coach.

He sat in on many meetings leading up to the Expansion Draft and on June 21, alongside McPhee, Foley announced picks at the NHL Awards Show in front of more than 10,000 fans at T-Mobile Arena.

Foley is the founder and Chairman of the Board of Directors of Fidelity National Financial Corporation (NYSE: FNF), a publicly traded Fortune 500 Company. A provider of title insurance, specialty insurance and claims management services, FNF was selected in 2004 by Forbes as one of the "26 Best Managed Companies in the U.S." and has repeatedly been named to Fortune's list of America's Most Admired Companies, Forbes' list of America's Best Big Companies and selected for Barron's list of Best Companies for Investors.

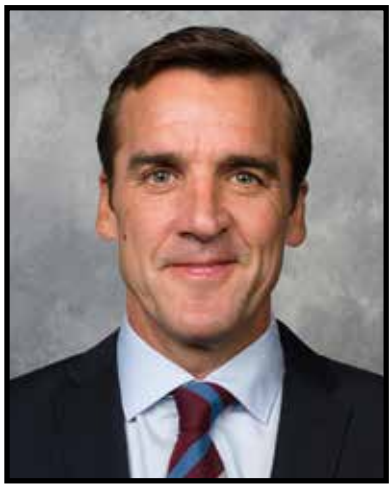
After receiving his B.S. degree in engineering from the United States Military Academy at West Point, Foley served in the U.S. Air Force, where he attained the rank of captain. He received an M.B.A. degree from Seattle University and earned his J.D. degree in 1974 from the University of Washington School of Law. From 1974 to 1984, Foley practiced law in Phoenix and focused primarily on corporate and real estate law. Following his legal tenure, Foley became affiliated with FNF. Through strategic acquisitions, Foley led FNF to become one of the largest title insurance companies in the nation, as well as to diversify into information services through the 2003 acquisition of ALLTEL Information Services, now Lender Processing Services (NYSE: LPS).

Foley devotes time to many educational and community organizations. In 1997, he was chosen as Orange County, California's Business Person of the Year, honored with the Marine Corps Scholarship Foundation's Semper Fidelis award and inducted into the Florida Council of Economic Education's First Coast Business Hall of Fame in 2006.

Foley and his wife, Carol, are active philanthropists for many causes, especially those in support of children's education. Foley has served as a trustee on the boards of the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce and the Cummer Museum of Art & Gardens. He also serves on the board of the Folded Flag Foundation, and their mission is to provide educational scholarships and support grants to the spouses and children of the United States military and government personnel who died as a result of hostile action or in an accident related to U.S. combat operations. Foley's additional professional directorships include Winter Sports, Inc.; Ceridian Corporation; and Fidelity Newport Holdings, LLC.

In addition to his numerous professional and philanthropic commitments, Foley is an accomplished golfer, ranked in 2004 by Golf Digest as one of the top five executive golfers in the world. Foley enjoys his time as a vintner and is the founder and managing partner of Foley Family Wines, headquartered in Sonoma, Calif. Foley also formed and serves as Chairman of Glacier Restaurant Group, LLC, the largest restaurant business headquartered in Montana. He is the developer of Rock Creek Cattle Company, a 40,000-acre working Montana ranch, featuring a high-end golf community with diverse homesteads, a well-appointed lodge for recreation and dining and an exceptional golf course designed by Tom Doak.

TEAM MANAGEMENT



GEORGE McPHEE

President of Hockey Operations, General Manager, Alt. Governor

On July 13, 2016, George McPhee became the first-ever President of Hockey Operations and General Manager of the Vegas Golden Knights. In his position, he oversees the team's day-to-day hockey operations including development, with an emphasis on scouting, drafting and overseeing the coaching staff. McPhee has created a team-first culture in his short time with the franchise and has hired staff around him who share that philosophy.

McPhee was tasked with putting together a competitive team in the short-term but also building for long-term success. Contributing to both of those goals was a successful Expansion Draft, which saw him select three-time Stanley Cup champion goaltender Marc-Andre Fleury from the Pittsburgh Penguins as well as other players who will immediately compete for playing time.

The Expansion Draft was not the only place where McPhee and his staff were successful. Through the expansion process, the Golden Knights made agreements with other teams and benefited by having three first-round draft picks in the 2017 NHL Entry Draft and 13 overall picks in the draft. The team ended up making 12 selections, the most of any team in the 2017 draft.

McPhee joined the Golden Knights after most recently being named Special Advisor to New York Islanders General Manager Garth Snow in 2015.

Prior to his time with the Islanders, McPhee served as Vice President and General Manager of the Washington Capitals for 17 seasons. Under his guidance, the Capitals grew from a lottery team to a perennial contender with multiple Southeast Division championships and the team captured the Presidents' Trophy in 2009-10.

The Capitals reached the playoffs 10 times during McPhee's tenure in Washington, including six straight seasons from 2007-08 to 2012-13. Under his leadership, the team claimed seven Southeast Division titles (1999-2000, 2000-01, 2007-08, 2008-09, 2009-10, 2010-11 and 2012-13) and he oversaw the Capitals first trip to the Stanley Cup Final in 1997-98, McPhee's first season with the franchise.

McPhee also saw success through the draft while with Washington as the team held 15 first-round draft picks from 2004-13, the most of any NHL team. His most notable selection was the No. 1 overall pick in 2004, Alex Ovechkin, the league's only active three-time MVP.

Those prospects flourished under McPhee's direction as the Capitals affiliate of the American Hockey League, the Hershey Bears, were Calder Cup champions in 2006, 2009 and 2010.

Prior to his time in Washington, McPhee spent five seasons as the Vice President and Director of Hockey Operations as well as alternate governor for the Vancouver Canucks, assisting then General Manager Pat Quinn with all hockey-related matters. In his time with the Canucks, the team enjoyed four trips to the playoffs, a division championship and a trip to the 1994 Stanley Cup Final.

McPhee began his playing career in his hometown of Guelph, Ont., with the Ontario Junior Hockey League's Guelph Platers, leading them to the 1978 Centennial Cup, Canada's Tier II championship. Following his stint with the Platers, McPhee attended Bowling Green State University of the Central Collegiate Hockey Association, where he became one of college hockey's most decorated players. A four-year letterwinner from 1978-82, he was the recipient of the 1982 Hobey Baker Memorial Award, given to the top player in college hockey. His other accolades included a first-team All-CCHA selection in 1982, second-team All-CCHA honors in 1979 and 1981 and his selection as the CCHA's Rookie of the Year in 1979. Earning a degree in business, he became the first player to be named to the CCHA All-Academic Team in three consecutive seasons.

Upon the completion of his college career, McPhee signed as a free agent with the New York Rangers and started his NHL career during the 1982 Stanley Cup playoffs. Following his seven seasons with the Rangers and New Jersey Devils, McPhee earned his law degree from Rutgers University in 1992.

McPhee and his wife, Leah, have two daughters, Grayson and Adelaide, and one son, Graham, who was drafted by the Edmonton Oilers in the fifth round of the 2016 NHL Entry Draft.

TEAM MANAGEMENT

KERRY BUBOLZ

On October 3, 2016, Vegas Golden Knights Chairman and CEO Bill Foley announced Kerry Bubolz as the first President and Chief Operating Officer of the Golden Knights. In his role, Bubolz oversees all business aspects of the franchise.

In 2013, he was named President, Business Operations where he oversaw ticketing and suite sales, corporate sponsorship revenue, broadcast, marketing, communications and community engagement for the franchise. In Bubolz's time with the Cavaliers, the team won the Eastern Conference Championship three times and won the NBA championship in 2016. The Cavaliers were consistently recognized by the NBA during their annual Sales & Marketing awards ceremonies for top performing teams in all key business metrics.

In addition to overseeing Cavaliers business operations, Bubolz also served as President and Alternate Governor for all franchise property teams owned by the Cavaliers Operating Company, including the Lake Erie Monsters of the American Hockey League. In this role, McCrimmon assists McPhee with the development of the team's scouting, drafting and coaching staffs, and is also involved in the day-to-day operations of the team.

McCrimmon comes to Las Vegas after serving as Owner, Governor, General Manager and Head Coach of the Western Hockey League's Brandon Wheat Kings and has been with the organization since 1988-89. McCrimmon served as Head Coach from 2004-11, and 2013-16. McCrimmon is the Wheat Kings All-Time winningest coach, having won over 400 games behind Brandon's bench. He purchased one-third ownership of the Wheat Kings from partner Bob Cornell in 1992, and assumed sole ownership in 2000. A member of the WHL's Board of Governors, McCrimmon also served as Chairman of the league's Competition Committee.

The Plenty, Saskatchewan, native played two seasons in Brandon in the late seventies and was a member of the 1979 WHL Championship club before moving on to the University of Michigan from 1980-84, serving as team captain his senior year. In addition, Craven oversees projects and duties as assigned by Vegas Golden Knights General Manager George McPhee.

Before joining the Golden Knights, Craven was an advisor to CEO and Chairman Bill Foley. He helped counsel Foley during the expansion process for two years. Prior to that, Murray lived in Whitefish, Montana and worked to grow the hockey community by serving as a youth hockey coach.

The Medicine Hat, Alberta native was drafted 17th overall in the 1982 NHL draft and played 18 seasons in the National Hockey League between 1982-2000. 2016-17 VGK YEAR IN REVIEW

THE GOLDEN KNIGHTS HAVE COME A LONG WAY IN A SHORT TIME

By Dan Marrazza, Senior Writer

NHL hockey in Las Vegas was born on June 22, 2016. Although to be fair, it wasn't until two weeks later that it was truly given life.

When George McPhee was introduced as the first general manager in team history on July 13, 2016, this franchise didn't have much.

Heck, it wasn't even called the Golden Knights yet.

Huddled beneath a banner that simply read "Vegas Is Hockey," McPhee's hiring started a surge – that will continue through the team's first season, and beyond – that's bringing major league sports to Las Vegas for the first time.

Before McPhee's arrival, the organization had about seven employees, mostly based in ticket sales. The group gathered in a tiny, temporary office off Sunset Road, dishing out as much enthusiasm as it did tickets, for a team that didn't yet have a name.

Not to mention players, a place to practice nor even a logo.

In the year since McPhee's hiring, everything about the team has started from scratch. From the branding of the team as the Golden Knights in November and the selection of its roster at the Expansion Draft in June, this has been a franchise constantly in motion.

This started with McPhee filling out his hockey operations staff, beginning with assistant general manager Kelly McCrimmon, in August and September. The Golden Knights now have personnel – everything from analysts to scouts and even salary cap experts – deployed across the globe.

Hardly a day goes by that Vegas doesn't have someone attending a hockey game…somewhere.

The franchise's progression continued with the arrival of Kerry Bubolz as team president in October 2016. Since then, Bubolz has transformed the team's modest business staff of only a handful of employees into more than 60.

This was highlighted by the team's business staff moving into its headquarters in late August. After breaking ground last October, City National Arena is now open in Summerlin. Which besides being the business staff's headquarters and the team's practice facility, features two NHL-sized ice rinks that are open for public use.

City National Arena now hosts youth players and recreational teams, UNLV hockey and incoming tournaments, from throughout the world.

The Golden Knights brought the NHL to Las Vegas. City National Arena will bring hockey to those who live here.

Yes, NHL hockey was born in Las Vegas on June 22, 2016. But from scouts to sponsorship, broadcasters, Reid Duke and every player that's been added since – and will be added in the future – the NHL now has life in Las Vegas. Under the moniker of the Vegas Golden Knights.

2017 NHL EXPANSION/ENTRY DRAFTS

By Gary Lawless, Vegas Golden Knights Insider

George McPhee determined his path and strategy early in the Vegas Golden Knights expansion process and it was always a two-priority plan.

Get players for today to immediately ice a competitive club and work the system to collect an excess of draft picks to ensure a healthy future.

McPhee used the expansion draft process to build his current team while at the same time bulking up with additional draft picks to collect the assets he needs to build a contender down the line.

McPhee walked out of the expansion draft with a full roster as well as an extra 10 amateur draft selections.

This strategy proved immediately beneficial as the Golden Knights arrived at the 2017 NHL Draft with six picks in the first three rounds. McPhee eventually traded one of those selections but he picked early and often at the draft in Chicago.

The expansion draft will give the Vegas Golden Knights life. The amateur draft will determine whether that life travels down a championship path.

Nobody is delivering the Golden Knights a Connor McDavid or Auston Matthews. McPhee is going to have to find that kind of player on his own.

Superstars get drafted and retained by organizations. McPhee knows this well as witnessed by his selections of players such Alexander Ovechkin, Nicklas Backstrom, Braden Holtby and Evgeny Kuznetsov and John Carlson which remain the backbone of the Washington Capitals.

McPhee built the Caps into a consistent contender through the draft.

The salary cap and the collective bargaining agreement conspire to make it crucial for teams to lock up assets on long-term, budget friendly contracts. Batting for average at the draft is key. If a GM can cash in with picks and select productive players and then retain these assets – a winner can be built.

"It's how we're going to build our team and develop our culture," said Golden Knights assistant director of player personnel Bob Lowes. "In today's NHL with the salary cap – draft picks are critical. And it's a proven theory – the more swings you get – the more opportunity for a home run."

McPhee needed 23 or so NHL players for the coming season but had 30 expansion picks which gave him the flexibility to try and acquire amateur selections from teams who wanted to keep their own rosters intact.

"The amateur draft is the lifeblood of a team," said Lowes. "It's the most efficient source for players in today's NHL. Look at how teams are built – if you want to be a winner – you have to be consistent at the draft. That's what we're aiming for."

1991 DISPERSAL & EXPANSION DRAFTS

1991 DISPERSAL AND EXPANSION DRAFT BACKGROUND

The 1991 Dispersal and Expansion Draft were implemented to fill the league's only expansion team, the San Jose Sharks, and the Minnesota North Stars. The North Stars took part in the Expansion Draft after the team owners, George and Gordon Gund, were awarded an expansion franchise in the California Bay Area when their relocation attempts to that area were denied. As part of the Dispersal Draft, the North Stars were able to protect 14 skaters and two goaltenders who had played at least 50 NHL games by the end of the 1989-90 season and from the unprotected North Star players, the Sharks selected 14 skaters and two goaltenders from the North Stars' roster. After San Jose had made its initial selections, the teams would take turns choosing from the pool of unclaimed players until the Sharks roster reached 30 players. During the Expansion Draft, the other 20 teams in the league were allowed to protect two goaltenders and 16 skaters. The Sharks and North Stars would take turns selecting from the pool of unprotected players until each had chosen 10 players. Twenty total players were selected, one from each team.

VEGAS HOCKEY HISTORY

By Dan Marrazza, Senior Writer

When the 2017-18 hockey season begins, it will be the first NHL campaign to ever feature a team from Las Vegas.

Although this is Las Vegas's first foray into NHL competition, hockey isn't new to Southern Nevada.

The NHL has staged multiple exhibitions in the Entertainment Capital of the World and the Wranglers and Thunder are probably Las Vegas' most famous former hockey teams. There have, however, been eight minor league or semi-pro teams to have called Las Vegas home before our NHL team arrived.

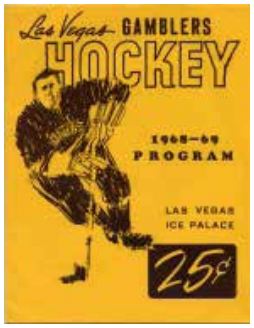
This includes every league (but not junior leagues, amateur or school teams) where players were paid to play for a Las Vegas team.

LAS VEGAS GAMBLERS

(CALIFORNIA-NEVADA HOCKEY LEAGUE, 1968-71)

It didn't come with the fanfare that accompanied this city's entry into the NHL on June 22, but (semi) pro hockey in this city dates all the way back to 1968.

That year, the Las Vegas Gamblers began as a senior amateur team, but grew into a semi-pro squad that played in the California-Nevada Hockey League (although rumors persist that many of these players were unpaid, which would negate its semi-pro transition).



That same league later morphed into the Pacific Southwest Hockey League, and then into the West Coast Hockey League, before disbanding in the mid-1990s.

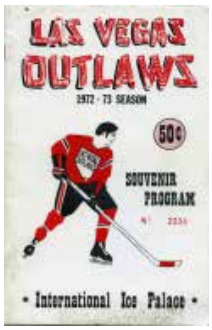
Before it ceased to exist, this league, throughout all of its incarnations, housed two separate Las Vegas franchises, as well as three in Reno (the Gamblers, Renegades and Aces).

LAS VEGAS OUTLAWS

(INDEPENDENT, 1971-73)

Like the Gamblers before them, the Las Vegas Outlaws' stay on the hockey scene was a short.

The Outlaws were semi-pro, playing independently from a single league against a variety of opponents, for two seasons from 1971-73. With this unconventional setup, the Outlaws - who kind of were Outlaws - put together one of the best single-season records of any hockey team in Las Vegas history - the inaugural 1971-72 team went 29-8-4-0.



Their star was a little forward from Lucky Lake, Saskatchewan named Bryant Bogren, who racked up 30 goals and 67 assists during the team's banner 1971-72 season.

LOS ANGELES KINGS VS. NEW YORK RANGERS (NHL, PRESEASON GAME SEPT. 27, 1991)

Long before the Golden Knights were even thought of, Las Vegas played host to the first official NHL outdoor game.

The Kings defeated the Rangers 5-2 in front of 13,007 people at a rink built over the parking lot of the Caesars Palace hotel and casino.

The Rangers jumped out to a 2-0 lead after goals were scored by Tony Amonte and Doug Weight and led after one period of play. The Kings then scored five unanswered goals, getting tallies from Tony Granato, Brian Benning, Sylvain Couturier, Jari Kurri and Wayne Gretzky.

Air temperature at puck drop was about 85 degrees and got as high as 95 degrees.

LAS VEGAS THUNDER

(INTERNATIONAL HOCKEY LEAGUE, 1993-99)

The first Las Vegas hockey team to make a splash on the national scene, the Thunder stormed their way into the International Hockey League in 1993.

Averaging more than 8,000 fans per game at the Thomas and Mack Center in their inaugural season, the Thunder iced some of the best and most interesting personalities in the game, either before or in the midst of their NHL careers.

Radek Bonk and Alexei Yashin, both high first-round NHL draft picks of the Ottawa Senators (Bonk was No. 3 overall in 1994; Yashin No. 2 in 1992), played some of their first North American pro games with the Thunder.

VEGAS HOCKEY HISTORY

Curtis Joseph, the fourth winningest goalie in NHL history, briefly tore up IHL competition in 1995-96, when he was in a contract dispute with the St. Louis Blues. Manon Rheaume, the only woman to ever play in an NHL (preseason) game (1992 for Tampa Bay), played for the Thunder in 1994-95.

By the time they exited the IHL in 1999, the Thunder never won a championship, but captured a pair of division championships.

LAS VEGAS FLASH
(ROLLER HOCKEY INTERNATIONAL, 1993-94)

In the mid-1990s, there existed a league called Roller Hockey International. It played games over the summer, often in NHL arenas looking to fill dates during the offseason, with team owners ranging from Mark Messier to Tony Danza.

Las Vegas twice housed RHI teams, with the first playing out of Thomas and Mack Center. This team was the Las Vegas Flash, who are probably remembered more for their colorful logo (pictured below) than play on the sports floor - the Flash won only six of their 22 games.

Ken Morrow, an Olympic gold medal-winner with the 1980 "Miracle on Ice" team, coached the Flash. The roster was headlined by Walt Poddubny, an NHL veteran with 184 career goals to his name who was playing out the final stretch of his career.

LAS VEGAS ACES
(PACIFIC SOUTHWEST HOCKEY LEAGUE, 1994-95)

The Aces were members of the semi-pro PSHL for one season in the mid-1990s before being flushed from the local scene.

The roster was headlined by Larry Melnyk, a Stanley Cup-winning defenseman with the Edmonton Oilers who played in the NHL throughout the 1980s with Edmonton, the Boston Bruins, New York Rangers and Vancouver Canucks.

After retiring in 1990, Melnyk made a comeback attempt with the Aces - he and the team only lasted one season.

LAS VEGAS ICE DICE
(NORTH AMERICAN LEAGUE, 1995)

The Ice Dice didn't have the most memorable stay on the hockey scene, joining the North American League in 1995, but disbanding before they actually played a game.

The most memorable aspect of this team was that it, in fact, was a hockey team called the "Ice Dice."

LAS VEGAS COYOTES
(ROLLER HOCKEY INTERNATIONAL, 1998-99)

Other than their awesome logo the Coyotes were moderately successful in their one season, going 16-7-0-3 and averaging about five-and-a-half goals per game.

At the time, however, the RHI was on its last legs. Both the team and the league disbanded following the 1998-99 season.

LAS VEGAS WRANGLERS
(ECHL, 2003-15)

The most recent, and maybe most memorable, hockey team to call Las Vegas home was the ECHL's Wranglers.

Winning records in nine of their 11 seasons, three runs to the conference final and 19 players that skated in the NHL. Zany off-ice promotions, including Rod Blagojevich Prison Uniform Night and a special performance from The Blue Man Group, as well as laying the foundation of current Golden Knights defenseman Deryk Engelland's pro carrer.

Their combination of on-ice success and off-ice shenanigans made the Wranglers the hockey standard in this town for a long time.

And in the end, the Wranglers served as the final professional hockey team in this town, leading to Las Vegas' arrival onto the NHL landscape in 2016.

The day after being drafted in the 2017 Expansion Draft by the Vegas Golden Knights, Jason Garrison, Brayden McNabb, Marc-Andre Fleury and Deryk Engelland went on a whirlwind tour of Las Vegas on June 22.

CITY NATIONAL ARENA

By Gary Lawless, Vegas Golden Knights Insider

The Vegas Golden Knights needed a place to train and operate as a business. Vegas simply needed more ice surfaces. City National Arena stepped in to become the perfect solution for all.

Sometimes you hear the expression, "that's his or her baby," in reference to a project and its manager. City National Arena may be home to the entire Golden Knights organization but it will be Murray Craven's baby for some time to come.

Craven was both the visionary and project manager for City National Arena. He thought it and he built it. And the Golden Knights came.

"We needed this for two reasons. First and foremost a home for our NHL team. Both the hockey team and the business team," said Craven," Golden Knights Senior Vice President. "Secondly, to grow the game of hockey in the city of Las Vegas both at a youth and adult level. Prior to this there were only two rinks in Las Vegas and they're always booked. That's the main reason hockey hasn't grown at a pace to match a city of over two million people. This gives the game of hockey some more space to grow in Las Vegas."

Two ice pads, state-of-the-art training facilities, office space for 100, 58 TVs, a full-service restaurant, one hot tub, one cold tub, a running track, a weight room overlooking the Las Vegas Valley, conference rooms, an omelet bar, medical areas, equipment storage, 600 pairs of rental skates, a pro shop and on and on.

"It's new. Which is always great. And it has everything a player could possibly want," said Craven. "Spaces for the guys to lounge, to eat, to learn, to dress, to train. Spaces for the coaches to learn and teach. It has technology and it has ice. It's a space which we believe will attract players. They'll want to come here in the morning and stay late. That's always a good thing for a hockey team."

Craven travelled around the NHL to collect ideas and then brainstormed with designers, architects, contractors as well as medical and equipment staff to fine-tune his vision.

Ten months and $30 million later and City National Arena was finished in time for the inaugural Golden Knights training camp.

"It's been a labor of love but it's been a lot of work. I'm glad it's done and I hope the players and staff enjoy it," said Craven. "Supporting and helping to grow hockey at a grassroots level in Vegas is a big part of our mission here with the Golden Knights and this facility will go a long way in allowing us to make that happen. Hopefully it's also a catalyst to a lot of wins on the ice for us as well."

T-MOBILE ARENA

One of the newest additions to the Las Vegas Strip is T-Mobile Arena, the home of the Vegas Golden Knights. The 650,000-square-foot entertainment and sports venue sits on 16 acres between New York-New New York Hotel & Casino and Monte Carlo Resort and Casino.

Construction for T-Mobile Arena started on May 1, 2014 and less than two years later the arena hosted its grand opening on April 6, 2016 with a blowout concert headlined by local legends including The Killers, "Mr. Las Vegas" Wayne Newton, and emerging pop artist Shamir.
